

Mary Freeman, born and educated in New England, has been a Florida resident since 1979. A biochemist, she has served as president of Awareness Technology since its inception in 1982. The private corporation designs and manufactures laboratory instruments and test kits for clinical diagnostics, food safety, and other and life science applications. Products are distributed internationally. Freeman credits her company's success to skilled and dedicated employees, loyal customers, and continuous self-education.